First Fish Derby 'Reeling' Success

Over 200 Fishermen Nab Trout

A huge success was tagged to the First Annual Fishing Derby held last night at the Palm Springs Golf Course lake and was one of the most exciting special events ever staged during the past several years.

The event, co-sponsored by the Palm Springs Fire Department and the Recreation and Special Events department, was the first of its kind ever undertaken by these two city organizations.

According to Howard Haddock, over 200 children and adults wet their hooks in hopes of landing a fish during the course of the evening. Another 150 onlookers came out during the evening to watch the anglers in action.

The number of fish caught and registered for size and weight was 79. The fish were cleaned by personnel from the P.S. Golf Course and the fire department. It was estimated that another 75 fish were snagged from the lake and taken without being registered.

Biggest Catch

The largest fish caught was a 4-pound, 1-ounce trout. Eight other by Chuckie Buresh. Eight other trout weighing over two pounds each were also hooked in the lake.

Over 300 trout were planted in the lake four months ago by the recreation department which were purchased from the Whitewater Hatchery. Numerous types of other fish were also planted in the lake by golf course personnel.

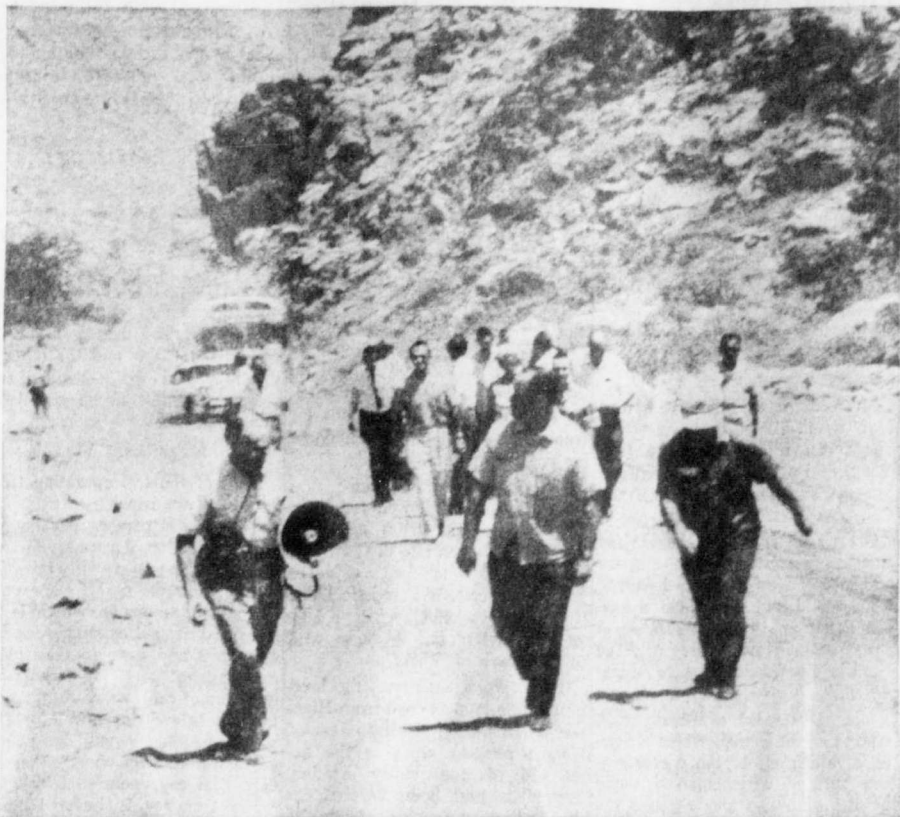

All the bait used by the fishermen was furnished by the fire department and 36 fishing pails were loaned to the children by the golf course.

Four Annually

Future plans for upcoming Fish Derbies call for four annually and stock the lake with more than 1,000 trout. A special night for adults is also being planned.

According to Director Haddock, all winners in the different age groups will be notified Monday and will be awarded trophies.

Officials said the success of the first Fish Derby would not be possible without the assistance of the fire department and the golf course personnel who helped the recreation department of the city stage this event.

INTREPID EXPLORERS yesterday had to hike up a quarter mile of dusty tramway road when the overloaded bus refused to negotiate the nearly 15 per cent road grade near the site of the valley station. The busload of tramway guests enjoyed the hike and heard tram engineer T. T. Mackenzie (with loud speaker) explain the current construction phases. (Desert Sun Photo)

'Golden 50' Promote Fund For Advertising

By GENE JOHNSON

Anyone want to take the first trip up in the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway?

There are still a few seats available at a going price of $1,000 each. The trip is tentatively set for sometime in May, 1963, when the tram is scheduled to open.

The rides were offered to a group of luncheon guests at El Mirador yesterday, after some 50 leading citizens and businessmen were taken on a tour showing the progress being made toward the tramway construction.

Unveiled at the luncheon along with a beautiful $3,500 model of the tram, was the offer for the first ride up San Jacinto. Tram director Virgil Davidson told the group of the "Golden 50" — a $1,000-per-person initial trip in the first car up.

Advertising Fund

The $50,000 raised by the Golden 50 will be used by Palm Springs Aerial Tramway Associates to add to $100,000 already appropriated for public relations and advertising.

The tramway director from Los Angeles told his audience that the funds are "needed to help put the tramway over with a bang." Davidson, who is chairman of the publicity committee of the board, said the money would be needed now because once the tram is open it probably won't need the advertising.

Eager Contributors

Davidson explained that the remaining 30 spaces in the 80-capacity first car would be reserved for V.I.P.'s, including the governor. First riders will enjoy the pomp and circumstance which go with such things.

At the luncheon, eight joined the original members of the Golden 50 — Ray Ryan, local developer, and Lee Kaiser, San Francisco bond holder.

They were Culver Nichols, who donated $1,500 as did Ryan, Charles Jones of Laurie's Steak Ranch, builder Bob Alexander, councilman Earle Strobe, trucking firm operator Joe LeBow, George Ripley, Milton F. Kreis and Eddie Silverman. Each member of the Golden 50 will receive a golden plaque commemorating the first trip.

Early Backers Praised

Before offering the membership in the Golden 50, Davidson briefly recounted the history of the tramway idea and development all the way back to the original idea by Francis Crocker in 1935. He especially noted a committee who put up $5,000 for right-of-way land to the tram site even before the Authority was definitely approved. They were Mrs. Pearl McManus, Charlie Farrell, Milt and Harold Hicks, Irwin Schuman, John Williams, Culver Nichols, O. Earl Coffman, Stanley Rosin, Dewey Metzford, Bank of America and the California Electric Power Co.

Expenditures Explained

A brief report was made by Everett Ball of the Ball Advertising Agency, who hold the advertising account for the tram. With the $30,000 budget, Ball explained the program for the year would be aimed primarily at the Southern California visitor already in the area. (The remaining $70,000 of the $100,000 budget went to publicity which is being handled by the Los Angeles-based firm of McFadden and Eddy.)

Ball displayed some art work which will be used for the tram.

House Fire Destroys Old Film

A 35-millimeter film satire on western movies was destroyed Friday in a fire at the Ace Hudkins home, 224 Circle Drive, Palm Springs.

Hudkins, radio disk jockey and promoter, produced "New Riders of the Old West" with Palm Springs area volunteer actors. The only copy of the film was kept in his home, Hudkins told firemen.

Fire Marshal Warren Heath said the damage to the frame home structure, was approximately $3,500, and damage to contents, including the movie, clothes, and a record collection, may have totaled $15,000.

The fire, which broke out in the living room of the house, may have been caused by faulty wiring, the fire department reported.

Major damage to a 40-foot house trailer owned by Billie Graves, 156 S. Indian Avenue, was caused by a fire reported at 11:03 p.m. Friday.

Firemen, who said the owner had not been located, reported damage could run from $3,000 to the full value of the trailer. Cause of the trailer fire is still under investigation.

National Guard Reduction Fought

By United Press International
Governors from Hawaii to South Carolina today dropped party differences to challenge President Kennedy's proposed National Guard cut.

The rebellion spread to more than half the states in the Union, as Republican and Democratic chief executives joined in protesting the Kennedy administration's reorganization plan.

The revolt in big states and small ones was triggered by Gov. Norman A. Erbe of Iowa, who bluntly refused to go along with the plan to cut the Guard from 400,000 to 367,000 men.

Erbe, who wants a personal audience with the President to discuss the matter, charged the cutback was aimed at eliminating the Guard.

The reorganization plan, which would drop 475 Guard units of about 150 men each, requires the approval of governors before it can go into effect.

It does not look like it will get it.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California said "A cut in strength would in itself be a serious blow." Democrat Brown said the Guard this month "reached full strength in California for the first time in years."

Gov. Ernest F. Hellings of South Carolina said "I intend to resist with every reasonable effort" the proposed cutback in the state.

In Denver, Gov. Stephen McNichols was "hopping sore" about the plan. "I don't think any governor in the United States will go along with this," he said.

He may be right. The protests continued. Texas Gov. Price Daniel said his state "will not accept the proposed reduction in our National Guard units." He called the plan "unthinkable."

"I am deeply concerned about the possible loss of troop strength and technicians' jobs," said

Washington Gov. Albert T. Rosellini. "I am concerned as a citizen with the Defense Department's strategy. I strongly oppose any reduction in the strength of this nation's reserve forces."

Cultist Slain In Riot With L.A. Police

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — One man was killed and 11 others injured, including five police officers, late Friday night when a riot erupted in front of the local headquarters of the extremist Black Muslim sect.

Police Lt. Ronald Williamson identified the black-suited cultist who was slain as Robert Stokes, 28, Los Angeles. Six others who streamed from the Black Muslim temple to join in the blazing gun battle were wounded before 75 officers quelled the riot. All seven were Negroes.

Three of the officers, including Frank Tomlinson whose left elbow was shattered by a stray bullet, were all in fair condition at Central Receiving Hospital. Officers Stanley V. Kensie and Richard T. Anderson sustained head injuries. Two other officers were treated for bruises and released.

The brawl broke out at the intersection of 57th and Broadway Streets, on the sidewalk and in the street in front of the local Black Muslim temple, identified as Muhammad's Moske 27. The extremist group is headed by Elijah Muhammad, 63, who said in an interview here last year his group advocates a separate "black nation" of negroes within the United States.

Chambers Weigh Valley Growth

Leaders representing communities throughout eastern Riverside County will gather in Palm Springs Monday night for the second annual Coachella Valley Economic Development Conference.

The session, to be held in the Palm Springs Riviera Hotel, will feature a run down on the economic forces at work in the desert area by four widely known experts, according to Joel Stone, dinner chairman. Speakers will be:

David Porter, assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific Railway Industrial Department, discussing "Industry and the Coachella Valley."

Harrison A. Price, Economics Research Institute director, evaluating "A New Lift for Coachella Valley."

Dr. Cecil L. Dunn, Southern Counties Gas Company economist, outlining "Problems of Progress."

William E. Warner, California's director of Water Resources, presenting "Water Development—Essential Key to Economic Growth."

The program, which drew a crowd of more than 300 to Shadow Mountain Club last year, is sponsored jointly by the County Board of Trade and the Chambers of Commerce of Palm Springs, Indio, Palm Desert, Desert Hot Springs, North Palm Springs, Coachella and Salton City.

NEWS in BRIEF

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan are meeting today to coordinate cold war strategy and discuss Britain's plan to join the European Common Market.

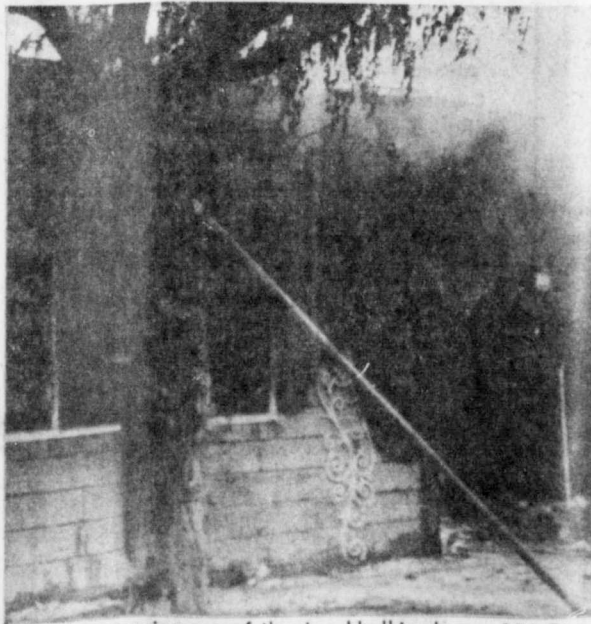

They scheduled morning and afternoon business sessions. Kennedy was giving a White House lunch for his guest and Macmillan returns the favor tonight at a stag dinner at the British embassy.

GARNET — Sharp wind gusts blew over a 10 foot trailer a mile and a half south of here at 7:30 a.m., but no major damage was reported, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Thomas Crandall, of 68-093 Highway 111, Palm Springs, had righted his trailer and cleared the traffic lane before officers reached the scene, the CHP said.

At approximately 7:35 a.m., a sharp wind flipped a second trailer on Highway 111 near the Oasis tract. Palm Springs police, who gave assistance on the CHP case, reported the trailer was righted without apparent damage.

They, 9, explained his brother, Moszynsky, 10, and his brother, Moszynsky, 11, were there Friday.

29 Palms Marine Held In Slaying

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An 18-year-old Marine and a paroled kidnapper each accused the other today of slaying of an attractive Beverly Hills woman whose nude body was found in Ventura County.

The woman was identified tentatively as Mrs. Angela Gums, 38. Positive identification of the body by relatives was delayed pending an autopsy. Fingerprints of the victim also were being checked.

The two murder suspects were Charles Henry Hummel, 18, a Marine stationed at Twentynine Palms, and Norman Whitehorn, 24, Hollywood, who served a prison sentence for rape and kidnapping in San Bernardino County. Sheriff's detectives said both were booked on suspicion of murder.

Sheriff's Sgt. Jack Lawton said the two men told remarkably similar stories of the slaying, but that each put the other in the role of the rape-killer.

Dance Tonight

Annual "out-of-town" dinner dance by El Tiempo Dance Club of San Diego will be held at 8:30 tonight at the Wonder Palm Hotel, according to Leroy Hulton club president.

The event will be started by a cocktail party at 7:30.

PS Chief Named In Damage Suit

Chief of Police A. G. Kettmann and the City of Palm Springs has been named in a half-million dollar damage suit filed in Municipal Court. Also named in the action is the County of Riverside and Sheriff Joe Rice.

The charges are made by Russell James, 2021 S. Palm Canyon Drive, who claims that he was "beaten without cause by two Riverside County Sheriff's deputies and three police officers of the city of Palm Springs" last Jan. 28 in front of his residence.

Three PS Officers

The three local officers involved in the action are Robert Harter, Gene North and Vernon Tavoularis. Chief Kettmann, who said he was not in a position to comment on the action did say that "I don't feel any of my officers acted improperly."

According to the police reports, the incident took place Feb. 8 — not Jan. 28 — at 2:20 a.m., when Sheriff's deputy Al Ritzel requested assistance from the Palm Springs officers in arresting James on suspicion of petty theft. Dep. Ritzel had followed James in a pickup truck from Cathedral City after getting a radio alert for a suspect in that type vehicle.

No Cooperation

The report indicated that James did not cooperate with Deputy Ritzel in questioning at the site, and Ritzel then asked the Palm Springs officers to help forcibly remove the suspect from his home. According to the complaint, James said he is still under the care of physician from the action although the police report states that he was not arrested and the action was settled peacefully.

Death Ends Heir's Spree In Mexico

TIJUANA, Mexico (UPI)—Authorities today sought the missing blonde wife of a Canadian heir who was stabbed to death during an international spending spree.

The British consulate in Los Angeles was trying to obtain the release of the body of Wayne Arnold 21, of Vancouver, B.C., who reportedly had spent $39,000 of a $100,000 inheritance since last June.

The English-born Arnold was stabbed to death Thursday by a cabdriver, Ramon Flores Figueroa, 20, who said he killed his passenger in self-defense. The body lay unclaimed in this border town today.

Arnold and his wife, Cecile, 20, left Vancouver three weeks ago for a vacation trip down the West Coast to Mexico. But it was not known whether Mrs. Arnold accompanied her husband here when he left Ysidro, Calif., Wednesday night.

U.S. immigration authorities, the Border Patrol and Los Angeles police were trying to locate the woman, who married Arnold last August.

The couple's recently purchased 1961 black Thunderbird automobile also is missing, authorities reported.

In Vancouver, David Chertlow Arnold's attorney, said the man had spent more than half the $100,000 inheritance he received last June.

"You will wind up dead if you go on like you are, probably knifed in some alley," Chertlow said he warned Arnold recently.

The Body in Shaky Start At Chi Chi

Much more at home with the blues than with hap-hap-happy songs last night was Mare (The Body) McDonald as she opened her ten-day engagement at the Chi Chi.

She claimed a good reason for a shaky start when she told the audience it was lucky to have her since she'd put her little 5-year-old daughter in the hospital in the afternoon and was only on hand in the "show must go on tradition."

Miss McDonald eventually took charge of the group, which reflected a tailing off of the winter season here — attendance-wise — and by the time she was through she was minus her shoes but had won an audience.

The Chi Chi gathering had been well mellowed for the Body's entrance with the antics, patter and "sounds" of comedian Dave Barry, who is staying over a few days from the last show.

His comments ran the gamut of things to poke fun at these days — television commercials, the dwindling Palm Springs season, Liz Taylor, married life, etc. Barry paid the usual tribute to the big sport here in the winter golf capital when he confided he'd just shot a 71—bowling.

Barry's family took quite a bit of kidding, which it must be used to after all these years. He didn't say his wife had put on weight, but did comment that "every time she gets in a taxicab they rush her to the maternity ward."

"Things are looking up, though," he pointed out. "She went to one of these weight reducing gyms and lost 15 pounds. One of the machines tore her leg off."

Opening the show is a puppet show put on by George Prentice whose exhausting effort in presenting a whole menagerie of puppets rates a credit even if one isn't greatly enamored by Punch and Judy type entertainment.

Miss McDonald could even chuckle at herself in a special song — one of the best she did — confiding that "I Want You to Know the Real Me." She admitted the color of her hair is not what she was born with, and said her marriage to footwear magnate Karl was not because of his wealth but that she "is wild about shoes."

She also disclosed her disappearing act several years ago got her more publicity than "Mr. K. in Paris."

Maybe it was because she took the audience into her confidence that she went over well. By the time she quit for the night, she had them on her side.

Tramsite Tour ...

way advertising in brochures, newspaper advertising and billboards which will be aimed at the Southern California market. He even displayed suggestions for tram-stamps and tram insignia for postage meters.

Guests Tour Canyon

The luncheon followed an hour-long tour of the tram approach and valley station site of the tram, conducted by resident engineer Tom Mackenzie. His statistic laden commentary was enjoyed by a busload of invited guests along with several cars of others.

Guests were taken back the four-mile Chino Canyon road from Highway 111, past the already-leveled terrace parking areas to the actual site of the valley station. Ground is now being leveled for the station, which will bridge a stream flowing down the canyon.

Ground level for the valley station is at the 2,643-foot level where much of Mackenzie's explanation was made as two helicopters darted in and out to pick up building material for transportation to the higher level construction projects.

Regular Fare

The tram cars will rise from the valley station to the mountain station at an altitude of 8,546 feet, just below the pinnacle of M. San Jacinto. The total 13,200-foot trip — partly horizontal — will be made in a matter of minutes by an estimated half-million visitors plus each year.

Tramway Authority plans call for a $4 round-trip for adults with operating hours of 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. The dual terminals — one at the valley and the other at the mountain top — will house restaurants, gift shops and lobby facilities.

Magnificent View

Each of the two operating tramway cars are capable of transporting up to 400 persons per hour in either direction, according to tram officials. The trip will take the visitor from the desert floor up to the mountain station which is being fitted around existing rock outcroppings and trees to take maximum advantage of the terrain and the magnificent view.

A ski shop for the sale and rental of winter sports equipment will be provided, along with an observation terrace with coin-operated telescopes. The tramway is being built at a cost of $7,700,000 from bond sales, which will be paid off in with income from the operation. The tram authority is anxious to point out that no tax money is involved in the building of the famous facility, which is due to open a year from next month.

"fast time" on Easter Sunday. Minnesota will wait until May 27 to re-set its clocks, making it the 27th state observing fast time in whole or in part.

Parts of eight states will provide the ultimate in confusion with both daylight and standard time prevailing. These states include Iowa, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, Ohio, Oregon and West Virginia.

Started in World War I Ever since Paris chuckled at Benjamin Franklin's suggestion of daylight time, the time switch and its headaches have provided many a laugh or tear. Revived by the Englishman, William Willett, in 1907, the proposal was advanced in the United States by Robert Garland of Pittsburgh, who promoted the idea as a wartime measure during World War I.

Of all living things on earth, Garland argued, only man "is so stupid as to deprive himself of an extra hour of sun by sticking to a rigid system of time."

Except for a period in 1918 and 1919, there has been no national law governing daylight saving time. But during World War II, the entire nation lived daylight time, or "war time" as it was known, all year long, as an effort to conserve electricity and provide enough recreation time for war workers.

For the first time this year, Indiana will shuck itself of the annual time dispute, with the state enjoying uniform time in its two official time zones. The state is split between Eastern standard time and Central daylight time.

Oregon's Dilemma

But a somewhat similar problem now confronts residents of Oregon. For the second straight summer, because of a bill passed by the 1961 legislature, a conglomeration of times will bewilder the tourist.

The legislature made daylight time legal for only about five counties, around Portland, in order to conform with the time in the state of Washington. The remainder of the state legally has standard time. But in some communities might operate on daylight, which could create a touch of confusion for tourists en route to the Seattle World's Fair.

Minnesota, which will mark time for about a month before switching, observed the third anniversary last Thursday of the state's great clock mix-up. The fiasco which divided Minnesota into feuding urban and rural camps included a legislative wrangle, and caused the attorney general to be hailed before the state supreme court and censured for his part in the time uproar.

A majority of states will wait until Oct. 28 to push their clocks back an hour. However, some communities and states will launch the return to standard time, Sept. 3.

Bus lines and railroads will operate generally in conformance with the time through which their routes pass. But airlines will mostly fly, especially between the larger cities, on daylight time.

Most Spectacular Week in Space

Race for Moon Now Not 'Just Talk,' But Dream Turned Toward Reality

EDITOR'S NOTE: This week was one of the most spectacular ever in man's attempt to conquer space. The United States fired missile after missile in tests, space probes, a partially successful shot at the moon and two joint international space ventures. Russia in its efforts to be the first to land a man on the moon, fired two satellites into orbit.

In the following in-depth dispatch UPI correspondent Alvin B. Webb Jr. reviews the week's activities in space. Webb has covered missile and space probes for the past three years and is responsible for UPI coverage of all U.S. space shots from Cape Canaveral.

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.
CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The race for space and the moon no longer is "just talk." This week, like no other week in history what once was a dream of man turned toward the realm of spectacular reality.

For five days man pounded the heavens with unprecedented gusto by blasting five satellites and a probe into space around earth, a complex electronic "brain" to the moon, a giant new booster rocket on a short test flight and a variety of other rockets on military missions.

Rocketry has come of age, and the new technology explored space like the fingers of a doctor probing a patient's body — from almost every conceivable direction, searching for information vital to the future.

In the fiery onslaught, the contest between America and Russia for conquest of space reached a fevered new pitch. The grim seriousness of the business was brought home forcefully as perhaps never before.

A Fantastic Week
Neither nation seemed to gain on the other. But the thunderous week probably was indicative of the months and years to come — a stepped-up drive of preliminary shots toward the day when a team of Americans, or Russians, must be the first on the moon.

This was a fantastic week which saw, among other things, the oddity of a scientific flop whitewashed to a glowing success because of what scientists admitted was "a lucky accident." Thus, Ranger-4 will be known for the one thing it did right rather than the many it did wrong.

Ranger-4 was a 730-pound "brain" the United States fired toward the moon aboard a 10-story rocket Monday. Exactly 63 hours 59 minutes and 45 seconds plus 238,857 miles later, it curved in sharply toward the moon and crashed to the lunar surface.

The shot that landed America's first probe on the moon was carefully billed as a "tremendous guidance success." But for all the value it was, the gold and chrome-plated Ranger-4 could just as well have been 730 pounds of lead.

"Brain" Is Added
The probe's "brain" was added shortly after it was launched because of a timing mechanism failure. It was supposed to take close-up pictures of the moon and "crash land" a capsule of instruments on the lunar surface, but these and all other scientific experiments failed.

But even as the dead Ranger soared on the moon, America was taking a big step toward the day when men will join machines on the long trip with a stunning second flight success of its Saturn super-rocket.

Saturn is to other U.S. space rockets what the 707 jet airplane is to earlier prop-driven aircraft — a huge jump in the ability to lift more weight. The biggest American rocket available today can lift about 2½ tons into orbit. Saturn rockets will carry 10-ton satellites.

The thunderous power of this giant — equivalent to the combined horsepower of 150,000 automobiles — was unleashed again Wednesday, powering the 460-ton Saturn with its two dummy upper stages on a comparatively short hop across the Atlantic Ocean. It was a perfect flight.

Need Larger Rocket
The model flown this week will be used to put teams of three U.S. astronauts into earth orbits aboard the Apollo spaceship in late 1964. But it will take a still larger rocket, five times more powerful, to send a similar crew to the moon.

Russia stepped into the moon preparation act, but kept its work closer to home than Ranger-4. On Tuesday, Soviet scientists fired a heavyweight satellite named "Cosmos - 3" into orbit around earth, and followed it with a similar moonlet dubbed "Cosmos-4" Thursday.

Various interpretations of Soviet intentions included speculation that the pair of satellites might be "spies - in - the - sky." But it seemed more likely the moonlets were basically scientific experiments designed to collect information about space radiation that will be necessary before any men, U.S. or Soviet, can safely go to the moon.

The matter of "spy-in-the-sky" satellites remains strictly a U.S. space item, and a sensitive one at that. An Atlas-Agena rocket is believed to have carried another one, either a Midas or a Samos, on a launching Thursday from Point Arguello, Calif.

The Defense Department does not do much talking about Midas or Samos, and never mentions either name publicly these days.

Military Keeps Mum
A second attempted orbital shot from Point Arguello Thursday was made with an Air Force four-stage Blue Scout rocket. The military also kept mum about this one, but it was believed to have carried a satellite to conduct radiation measurement experiments in connection with the current series of U.S. nuclear tests underway in the Pacific.

U.S. and British scientists combined their talents to put together a 132-pound satellite called "UK-1." It was fired into orbit from the East Coast "spaceport" aboard an American three-stage Delta rocket.

UK-1 was collecting information about the ionosphere, a sort of "mirror" of ionized gas which reflects some radio signals and makes possible long-range wireless communications on earth.

International cooperation by the United States was extended in another direction, to Japan, for still another space shot Thursday. U.S. and Japanese scientists got together and launched a sounding rocket from Wallops Island, Va., to probe the ionosphere.

Yucca PTA Open House Draws 230

YUCCA VALLEY — An estimated 230 persons attended Yucca Valley Elementary School's PTA Open House here.

Mrs. Charles Buckles, president, presided at the business meeting. Mr. Albert Gilbert, principal of the school, then introduced the guest speaker, Julio Escarpel, an exchange student from Argentina who is attending high school in Palm Springs. He enchanted the audience with his delightful account of his experiences as an exchange student.

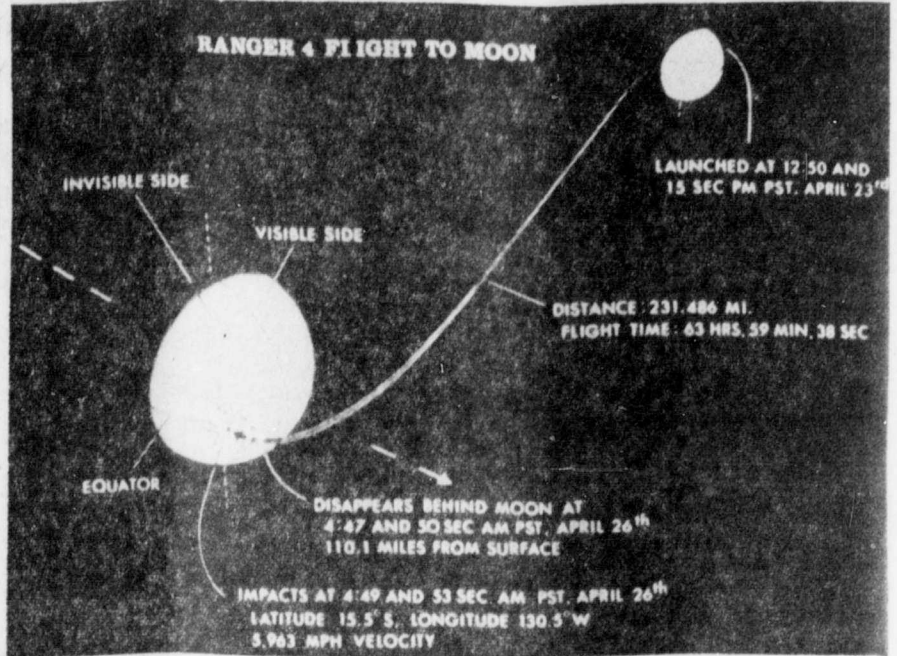

The program was televised on a closed circuit over Channel 6 for home viewers.

Visitors later toured the classrooms where many student projects were displayed. Refreshments were served in the multipurpose room.

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — A college placement director says college students are becoming increasingly selective in their job-seeking.

George N. P. Leetch, director of the Pennsylvania State University placement service, said that only two months before graduation day about half of Penn State's 2,000 prospective graduates had not made commitments and did not seem in a hurry to do so.

Ike, Mamie To Depart Tomorrow

PALM DESERT — A four month desert vacation retreat will end here Sunday for Gen. and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower when the former president and his wife, Mamie, leave by private railroad car for their farm home in Gettysburg, Pa. — but they plan to return.

In an off-the-cuff chat Thursday with diners at a "Luncheon-for-Nixon" benefit, Ike reported that he and Mamie planned to return to the desert again next year.

Only golf and packing will occupy the time of the couple between now and then, according to the former president's secretary, Mrs. Ann Whitman. The long line of important visitors to the Eisenhower Eldorado cottage since their arrival last November will now be directed to their farm home.

Gen. and Mrs. Eisenhower enjoyed Mexican food Thursday night in Palm Springs, after Ike made what is expected to be his last public appearance at the Nixon luncheon at Eldorado.

They will leave Sunday night in their special car with a stop planned at Eisenhower's childhood home, Abilene, Kan., where he will participate in the dedication of the Eisenhower Library. They will then continue on to Gettysburg.

Young McCall Granted Danforth Fellowship

PALM DESERT — Dan McCall, 22-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Roy McCall, has been granted a Danforth Fellowship for graduate studies in the humanities, it was learned here Thursday.

"The grant may take him through his doctoral degree," Dr. McCall, president of the College of the Desert here told The Desert Sun.

Young McCall, a December graduate of Stanford University now studying for a master of arts degree in English literature at the University of California, Berkeley, was nominated by Stanford for the grant.

"Dan was one of two Stanford nominees, and one of approximately 100 in the entire country," Dr. McCall reported. The school nomination for the grant was based on scholarship, character, and an expressed interest in the humanities.

Dan McCall, who worked as a newspaper reporter in the Coachella Valley in 1960, studied under a Stanford overseas program in Italy in 1961. He made tours into North Africa, Germany, Austria and Russia during his European studies, and returned home via the Far East.

The Danforth grant will pay tuition at the school of McCall's choice, plus an annual $15,000 living

A representative of the Citizen's Campaign for the district bond election June 5 will speak approximately 10 minutes after the entertainment.

Election of Parent-Teachers Association officers for 1962-3 and the serving of refreshments will be the closing event of the evening. The open house is a feature of California Public Schools week observations throughout the district.

GEORGE W. HARRIS, famed White House photographer and head of the noted "Harris and Ewing" agency in Washington for the first quarter of this century, has presented a portfolio of 50 portraits of famous Americans which he photographed to the new College of the Desert. Two trustees of the college, Mrs. Helen Staley and D. M. McGahey, look over two of the pictures with Harris. (Desert Sun Photo)

COLLEGE GETS GIFT

Noted Photographer Enjoyed Long Career

By GENE JOHNSON

It's relatively easy for George W. Harris to look back over his long career. It's all recorded in photographs.

As he approaches his 90th birthday — next June 12 — the famous photographer is still sharp and alert. Although he was slowed by a heart attack a few months ago, he is looking forward to his return in a few weeks to his summer home in Washington, D. C., and renewal of acquaintance with many of his old friends.

For the past three years, Harris has maintained a winter home at 1280 Tamarisk Road in Palm Springs, after having spent the previous 20 winters in Arizona.

20-Year Career

He has just presented 50 of his original portraits of famous Americans, as well as portrait-sized views of the news events of his day, to the new College of the Desert in Palm Desert.

Harris decided to give the pictures to the new school after his friend, Mrs. Helen Staley, a trustee at the college, admired them on a recent visit to his house.

The near-nonagenarian is the Harris half of the famous news and photographic service "Harris and Ewing" which was a leading agency in Washington for some 20 years — and Harris was on a personal and friendly basis with all seven presidents from Theodore to Franklin Roosevelt.

In fact, it was Theodore Roosevelt who persuaded Harris to come to Washington to open his studio after the two met in San Francisco early this century where Harris was a photographer for William Randolph Hearst.

Portrait Gifts

He opened his studio in the nation's capitol in 1904, and started a 20-year career of high success. He was, in effect, the official photographer for the White House. "I traveled 10,000 miles with Teddy Roosevelt, 10,000 with Taft, but Wilson took me to the Paris peace conference," Harris recalls. He remembers it as the highlight of his career.

His Harris and Ewing agency served all the news media with pictures for 20 years — from 1904 to 1924 — until the Associated Press put photographers in Washington. "We served 66 of the leading newspapers in the country for many years," Harris proudly boasts. His pictures are used yet today in textbooks as he recorded a big portion of American history. His agency was a partnership with Mrs. Martha Ewing for 10 years, after which he operated it alone. Mrs. Ewing died last year.

ATILEE COMFORTABLE

LONDON (UPI) — Earl (Clement) Attlee spent a "very comfortable day" Thursday in King Edward VII Hospital, according to a spokesman here. The 79-year old former prime minister is recovering from a stomach operation.

at her home in Pebble Beach, at 90, Harris reports.

One of the first of the accomplished photographers of the era of unlimited news photography, Harris originally wanted to be an artist. He studied under a well-known painter in Pittsburgh, Pa., his home town, until his teacher gently recommended he try photography since his talents seemed more suited to that medium.

Harris took the advice and never regretted it.

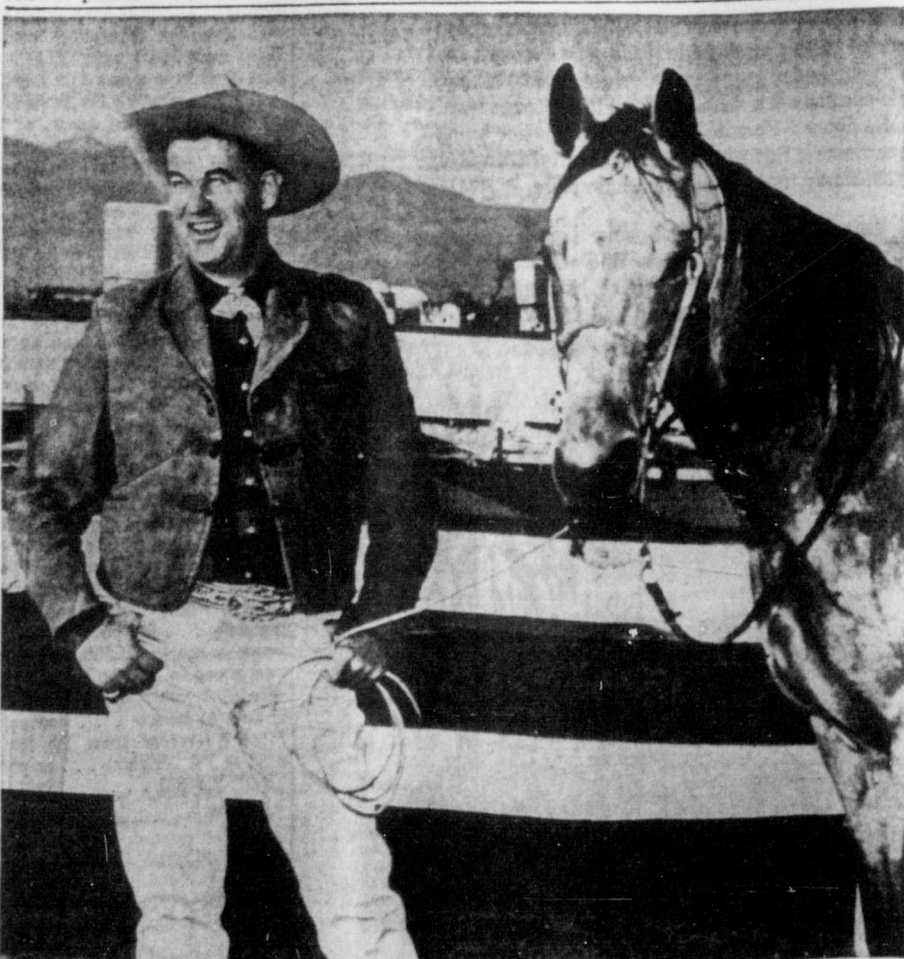

Besides his artistic and business success in Washington, he was active in other fields. He was active in the affairs of Rotary International for many years. He started the Washington club — No. 46 — and has been a director of the school of governors for 25 years.

"I never missed a single convention of Rotary until last year in Tokyo," Harris said, when illness prevented him from taking the trip east.

He was also one of the founders of the White House News Photographers Association and still carries an active card in that group. It allows him free reign at the White House even today.

The cream of the crop of pictures he took during his career were kept in his private collection until his decision to turn them over to the new college.

The school expressed appreciation for the outstanding gift, one of the first to be received by the new junior college. They were accepted by Trustees D. M. McGahey and Mrs. Staley.

HIGHLY REGARDED as one of the top rodeo announcers in the west, His Honor the Mayor of Palm Springs, Frank Bogert, has been signed by the Riverside Rancheros Riding Club to do the microphone honors at their first annual rodeo, May 5th and 6th, at their clubhouse arena at 8001

Washington Street in Riverside. Mayor Bogert had announced at all seven years of the now discontinued Sheriff's Rodeo, and his crowd pleasing tactics have made him as much an attraction as some of the top cowboy contestants who will appear in this nationally sanctioned event.

Elaine Childs Elser's many friends will be sorry to hear that she is in Desert Hospital at week's end, but it is just to recover from a heavy cold.

That rumor that the Biltmore is closing for the summer just isn't true. As in previous summers, the Biltmore will be open, with a complete program of entertainment, starting May 20 with the Concours d'Elegance (that's a fashion show for cars) and will have nightly entertainment and dancing.

One of the first hotels to install refrigerated air - conditioning and stay open for the summer months, the Biltmore found that it paid off in increased business. The Stanley Kramer crew of "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad World" is installed there currently.

George Allardice, who closes his singing engagement there tonight will be heading east. He reports that Rosie Dolly Netcher who is in the Roosevelt Hospital in New York, is getting along nicely.

Lloyd Pantages and his sister Carmen Considine are here visiting with Julio Alvarez this week-end.

Old-timers will remember Aileen Hagerty, who was society editor for the Desert Sun back in the days when it was a once-a-week publication, will be down from Walnut Creek this weekend and hopes to see some of her old friends. She's arriving with her niece Gladys Keys and staying at the Tennis Club.

Palm Springs travelers, no matter where they go, find people they know and the Tahoe area will certainly be a familiar one this summer.

Of course, the Harold Murphys will be back at their North Shore Club, in fact, Harold's already there getting ready for their opening.

Ruby's Dunes will stay open until right after Memorial Day, and then Connie Barleau and Lucile Nasko and the Dunes crew along with Eddie King of the Beachcomber will move up to Cal-Neva Lodge for the summer. That's Frank Sinatra's place and he's scheduled to open the show season there on June 29. He's billed for 10 days but is expected to be in and out all summer. After the Dunes closes Ruby will fly to Florida for his granddaughter's wedding and then go on to New York to meet Sinatra and the two of them will fly to Tahoe in Frank's plane El Dago.

Junior Women Induct Six New Members

Six new members were formally initiated into the Palm Springs Junior Women's Club when it met at the home of Mrs. Richard Algie.

Past president Mrs. Richard Hill read some "Do's" for clubwomen and explained the symbols of the club pin from an enlarged replica made by Mrs. Ronald Jahelka, president-elect. Mrs. Jahelka presented an initial charm and bracelet to each initiate, while President Mrs. William Shupe explained the significance of the chains representing the chain of unity that encircles the world—a chain of federated women's clubs. The CFWC pins, inscribed "Strength United is Stronger," were presented to Mrs. Morris Soto, Robert Gadbois, Anthony Rizzotto, Kenneth Davis, Gerald Stickles and Mike Dille.

Daughter's Betrothal Announced

Maryjane Isenagle, Lee Wenzlick and Loretta Miller were inducted into the club, when Soroptimist Club of Palm Springs, held its weekly luncheon meeting. Else Addes presided at the induction ceremony, presenting each new member with a corsage in Soroptimist colors of yellow and blue.

Marie Ford, who spoke on the passionflower, had placed one of the flowers which had been grown in her own yard, at each place. She explained the meaning of the name, saying that Spanish settlers named them, thinking they typified the passion of Jesus, with the colored parts of the envelope supposed to represent the apostles.

Polly Isenagle conducted the meeting, with final plans being made for delegates to attend the Soroptimist convention in Tucson this weekend.

Magdalen Theess of Burbank was a guest at this meeting.

The next meeting, a business meeting for members only, will be held at Holiday Inn at 12:15 p.m. on May 1.

Sorority Plans Founders Day

Plans for the Founders' Day banquet to be held at Holiday Inn on April 30, were discussed when Xi Theta Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met at the home of Mrs. Eugene Read. Decorations for the banquet were made during the course of the meeting.

Dessert was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mme. John Dill, Ray Hayes, William Madhoff, Joel Mason, Robert Taylor and Louise Crooks.

Club Officials Don Hats To Designate Each Office

A colored straw hat, designating her office, was presented to each new officer as she was installed, when Palm Springs Business & Professional Women's Club held its annual installation at the home of Eileen Miguel, June Travers, past president, acted as installing officer.

The new officers, who were all wearing hats at the end of the ceremony, were: Betty Luce, president; Jean Bourne, 1st vice president; Eileen Miguel, 2nd vice president; Madeline Smith, recording secretary; Hazel Critchlow, corresponding secretary; Martha Jarrett treasurer; and Grace Weatherford, parliamentarian. TELLS INSIDE STORY

Master Spy in TV Interview

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Allen Dulles, who has been called America's "master spy," defended U2 pilot Francis Powers and the reason for supporting the Cuban invasion in a remarkable hour-long television interview Thursday night.

In a matter-of-fact, forthright manner, the former chief of the Central Intelligence Agency also showed a flair for humor on "CBS Reports" as he revealed some little-known cloak-and-dagger details.

He recalled being introduced to Nikita Khrushchev at a dinner. "Oh, yes, I know you," Khrushchev said. "I read your reports." Dulles replied: "I hope you get them legibly." He said Khrushchev countered that all governments pay the same agents.

Under the adroit questioning of reporter Eric Sevareid — the only other person present during the hour — Dulles said he never shared some of the public and press criticism of Powers.

He said he did not think it had been brought out sufficiently that Powers had such a difficult assignment from merely an aviation and navigation basis, it was too much to expect him to also be a topflight undercover man.

Handled Himself Properly

"I think, on the whole, he handled himself properly," Dulles said.

Concerning criticism that there was a failure to recognize Fidel Castro's danger earlier, Dulles said, "Maybe we were slow about it," but asked what one could do about a government that was in power with the approval of most of its citizens.

Asked about criticism that the invasion was immoral and illegal, he said the question was whether a group of men who wanted only to free their country should be told America did not sympathize with them.

Dulles admitted the United States did not inform the Cuban underground about the invasion; he said to do so would have been to tell Castro. He added that very few persons knew about the invasion of France in World War II, to ensure surprise.

As Dulles lit, re-lit and toyed with his pipe in his Georgetown home, Sevareid deftly drew from him tales of some of his exploits.

There was the period in Switzerland in the second war when Dulles visited psychiatrist Carl Jung for help in trying to figure out Hitler's mental reactions—what he might do next, and so forth. The ex-intelligence chief said similar techniques have been used in relation to Khrushchev.

Attempts To Kill Hitler

In Switzerland, Dulles kept Washington informed about the plots on Hitler's life, including the 1944 attempt of the German generals in a briefing barrack. If Hitler had not moved 10 feet, a concealed bomb — which went off — would have killed him. Dulles expressed his disappointment about the affair in a businesslike way Thursday night.

The "master spy" also told how messages smuggled to him from the German Foreign Office enabled America to know of Japan's desperate position before the end of the war and made it possible to help prepare negotiations for an early surrender.

Asked by Sevareid if he thus thought it was necessary to use the A-bomb against Japan, Dulles said he respected the men who made the decisions but felt there was a failure to interpret available intelligence as to the ability of the enemy to carry on.

"CBS Reports" turned in a proud job, although it would not have hurt to have explored Dulles' background and earlier years.

ON AFGHANISTAN

'World Around Us' Series Concludes

The last program of the World Around Us series in Palm Springs will be held Wednesday evening at the Marcuse Auditorium of the Desert Museum at 8 p.m.

The personal appearance of Raphael Green, with his color motion picture, "Afghanistan Journey" will be an outstanding event of the season, according to director Clarence E. Smith.

"Afghanistan Journey" is an exciting adventure in a rugged land, a key country that extends for 700 miles directly along the Iron Curtain. Both Russia and the United States are bidding for the friendship of Afghanistan. Traveling by jeep and air, Raphael Green lived among the Afghans. Concentrating on subject of human interest, he photographed the friendly people of Afghanistan, whose strange customs are matched only by their warm hospitality, Smith said. To produce this motion picture, Green navigated mountain roads at 16,000 foot altitudes. Included are rare scenes of holy men at prayer in a gem-like Moslem mosque; the King visiting his people; mountain tribes celebrating; desert nomads on the move; veiled Afghan women; natives wearing curly-toed shoes.

The program is open to the public. To Museum members the program is free of charge.

UP IN SMOKE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. smokers paid enough in cigarette taxes last year to meet the cost of the U.S. Space Agency's fiscal 1963 program, with enough funds left over to buy 40 Atlas missiles, the Tobacco Institute estimates.

Lawn Bowling Tourney To be Staged in P.S.

The first annual invitational Lawn Bowling Tournament for mixed triples will be held May 14 at Smoke Tree Ranch, according to Denny Grant, chairman.

Walt Disney, an avid lawn bowler, will bowl on one of the teams, and will present a perpetual trophy.

The game of lawn bowling has been played for about 500 years.

Sir Francis Drake is said to have finished his game before going out to whip the Spanish fleet.

Fourteen teams of three persons each have registered for the tournament. Entrants are from Pasadena, Riverside, Holmby Hills, Hermosa Beach, Long Beach, Santa Barbara, Redlands, Pomona, Santa Monica, Beverly Hills, Montecito and Smoke Tree.

Lawn bowling is played by rolling a slightly elliptical bowl, resembling a small bowling ball, down a rink (equivalent of an alley in bowling) and trying to get it as close as possible to the jack, which is a billiard ball. The jack is placed from 80-110 feet away from the bowlers depending upon the designation of the winner of the previous game. The rinks at Smoke Tree are bent grass, and kept green the year round.

CAN-TOSSING FANS

Angels Lose to Tigers, 14-3

DETROIT (UPI)—Anyone still believe baseball is dying because it's too slow, it's lost its character or because the players and fans don't care? If so take a look at what happened Friday night in an ordinary game between Los Angeles and Detroit.

They put together a seven-run inning and a near-riot and came out with one heck of an evening—and luckily no one was even injured.

Detroit won the series opener from the Angels, 13-4, before 21,235 loyal, can-tossing, hooting and hollering fans. The Angels didn't have a chance on the field or in the stands.

The Tigers were struggling along with a 10-3 lead in the bottom of the sixth inning when Angel pitcher Joe Nuxhall decided to do something about it and plunked hero Norm Cash in the back with a pitched ball. This didn't set too well with the Tiger fans—or umpire Ed Hurley who went out to talk to Nuxhall.

A bit perturbed, Nuxhall obviously didn't want to hit anyone else with the ball and tossed it into the stands. Hurley reciprocated by tossing Nuxhall out of the game.

Angel manager Bill Rigney raced onto the field and bumped second base umpire Ed Runge. Runge returned the pleasure by bumping Rigney from the game.

The Angel bench then got into the dispute and when outfielder Chuck Tanner pitched a towel from the dugout, Hurley banished him to the locker room.

Meanwhile, the far from phlegmatic Detroit partisans decided Angel centerfielder Lee Thomas was lonely. They pelted him with beer cans and bottles—even something that looked like a magnum of champagne. When they got the field cleared of debris and Angels, Detroit went on to score three more times.

Nuxhall, the fourth of five unsuccessful Angel hurlers, also got tagged with a $50 fine.

Ken McBride started, later only 1 2-3 innings, gave up five runs and got stuck with his third loss against a win.

Leon Wagner's fifth homer, a 420-foot smash, gave Los Angeles a brief 1-0 lead in the second. But Detroit came back to score seven runs in the home half of the inning on a barrage of hits Kentucky, Indiana, Auburn and several walks. By the time

Billy Moran of the Angels hit a two-run homer in the fifth the game was decided.

The clubs meet again today, Ted Bowsfield (0-0) pitching for Los Angeles and Don Mossi (2-1) for Detroit.

NCAA Hits Colorado U. With Ban

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Friday placed the University of Colorado on a two-year probation, but patted the school on the back at the same time.

The probation prohibits the Buffalo football team from participating in NCAA championships, bowl games or televised games.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said there was "no question that the penalty would have been a great deal more severe" except for the prompt and efficient way Colorado handled the case once it became aware of it.

The NCAA placed most of the punishment blame on Everett (Sonny) Grandelius, whom Colorado fired as head football coach last month after an investigation of an alumni "slush fund."

Grandelius took the Buffaloes to the Orange Bowl last season and ran up 21 victories against only 9 losses at the school.

The NCAA charged he "conceived and originated" the "slush fund" to provide financial aid to 21 football players from 1959 to 1961.

His chief assistant, John Polonchek, was accused of operating the fund. Grandelius Polonchek and three other assistants allegedly involved in the fund are out at Colorado.

Byers called the Colorado violations "one of the most serious cases to come before the NCAA council." He ranked the probation with the severe punishments previously given the universities of Kentucky, Indiana, Auburn and North Carolina State.

MRS. MORTIMER COHN, right, swapped a golf putter for a gavel with Mrs. James Mapes in a symbolic rite at Bermuda Dunes Country Club yesterday. Mrs. Cohn, who received the gavel, succeeds Mrs. Mapes as chairman of the Bermuda Dunes Women's Golf Auxiliary. The organization started its third year of social and golf activity this month. It was formed on the first anniversary of the golf club.

Finals of Racquet Cup Tennis Tourney Sunday

Following first round play in the 13th annual Invitational Tennis Tournament at Charlie Farrell's Racquet Club today, the semifinals and finals will be staged tomorrow with play getting underway at 9:30 a.m.

A large field of entries commenced action this morning and Jack Wall and Vladimir Petrovic have returned to defend their doubles championship.

Also returning are Larry and Ron Willers to defend the Flight A championship along with Corky Olerich and Jim Bursh who won the mixed doubles last year.

Mixed doubles Flight A champs, Mousie Powell and Bill Canning are entered in this year's tournament to defend their title.

You will notice from the picture that the left hand is in control and must always stay in control to the extension of the arms. Remember: The left hand travels farther, so if you want control and power you must consistently work on the left-side action. In a correct swing, you can see it must travel much further than the right.

LA Dodgers Win Over Bucs, 7-2

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—If the Los Angeles Dodgers had built their Chavez Ravine stadium for pitcher Don Drysdale he could not be more pleased than he was today as he reviewed his 7-2 win over the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Dodgers sent another of big guns, Sandy Koufax, 3-1, against the Pirates in today's afternoon contest in his first outing since he hurled his record 18 strikeouts against the Chicago Cubs Tuesday. He was opposed by righthander Earl Francis, 1-0.

The Pirates and Dodgers close out their series Sunday with the first doubleheader to be played in the new stadium. For Los Angeles Johnny Podres and Joe Moeller were listed as the starters while for Pittsburgh manager Danny Murtaugh said he would use Vinegar Bend Mizell and Al McBean or Bob Friend.

Friday night's win was Drysdale's second straight at home and third win of the season against one loss. It also was the Dodgers' fifth victory without a defeat at home in their new stadium. And for Drysdale it was his first complete game victory over the Pirates since July 3, 1960, at Pittsburgh.

The tall Dodger hurler gave up 10 hits, but he kept them scattered and only in two innings did he allow more than one hit. Indicative of his control was the fact that he walked only one. He threw 117 pitches and struck out seven.

Pittsburgh rookie Bob Veale's wildness was his downfall. He started by walking his first three men and all three scored, two on Frank Howard's single and the other on John Roseboro's single.

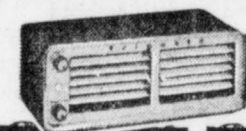

Dick Scheffler's double in the third was the only extra base hit in the game and he scored on Bob Skinner's single.

THEY'LL BE "off and running" at Hollywood Park Wednesday, May 9, and all is in readiness at the luxurious Inglewood track for the 55-day season of thrilling thoroughbred racing. The finest horses and riders in the country are expected to compete for the nation's richest stakes and purses. Post time Tuesday through Saturday for the eight-race programs will be 1:45 p.m.

With its stables stocked with top-notch equine talent and its huge plant refurbished in anticipation of record crowds, Hollywood Park is in readiness for the opening of its 23rd season of thoroughbred racing next Wednesday. Post time daily for the 55-day meeting that will run through July 23 will be 1:45 p.m.

Heading the inaugural eight-race card will be the $20,000 added six-furlong Hollywood Premiere Handicap, which is expected to attract several of the nation's fastest sprinters.

Leading up to the opening next week will be two special preview days this weekend. These will be open to the public without charge on Sunday starting with the morning workouts at 7 a.m.

In addition to the training activity and the free guided bus tours of the stable area which are daily features of the public morning work outs, there will be several non-betting practice races for young thoroughbreds now undergoing their schooling for the racing competition ahead.

During the Hollywood Park season many of the finest runners in the country will compete for approximately $3,700,000 in prize money. Such racing classics as the $162,100 Hollywood Gold Cup and three other hundred-grander, The Californian, Hollywood Derby and Hollywood Juvenile Championship, are expected to bring out the class of the nation's equines.

Jockey Bill Shoemaker, seeking his 13th Hollywood riding championship, will be on hand to defend his title from the greatest assemblage of saddlesmiths in the land, including world riding champion Johnny Longden, Ismael Valenzuela, Ralph Neves, Ray York, Pete and Henry Moreno and Braulio Baeza among others.
